

- To use art as a universal language to convey impactful messages against drug abuse, creating a lasting impression on viewers.

7. Highlighted Photos:

8. Student Feedback:

1.Expression of Gratitude:

We are thankful for the opportunity to participate in such a meaningful competition. It allowed us to express our thoughts on a critical issue through art. The event was well-organized, and it felt great to contribute to spreading awareness against drug addiction.

2.Impact of the Event:

The competition made me more aware of the serious consequences of drug addiction. I felt inspired to create something impactful. I learned so much about the importance of staying drug-free, and it was inspiring to see how others represented this message through their art.

3.Creative Opportunity:

It was an amazing platform to showcase creativity while addressing a socially relevant topic.Using art to convey such a strong message was a unique and enjoyable experience.

4.Collaboration and Interaction:

Interacting with participants from other colleges was an enriching experience, as it allowed us to exchange ideas and perspectives on the theme.The exhibition of artworks was inspiring and showed how different creative approaches could tackle the same issue.

5.Suggestions for Improvement:

It would be great to have more time to work on our pieces or perhaps workshops before the competition to brainstorm ideas.Including a discussion session where participants explain the concept behind their artwork would add more depth to the event.

6.Motivational Value:

Winning was exciting, but the real reward was being part of a cause that matters to so many lives. The event motivated me to use my skills for more socially impactful causes in the future.

7.Overall Experience:

The competition was not just about art; it was about making a difference. I am proud to have been a part of it.This event proved that art can be a powerful tool to spread awareness and inspire action.